"Semester exchange helped me become independent"

LPU's B. Tech CSE student Vidushi Katore cherished the wonderful opportunity of studying at one of the leading universities of the world, Dongseo University, South Korea, with a 100% tuition fee waiver under the semester exchange program.

The first thing that comes in Vidushi's mind when travelling is "safety". "When you are travelling solo to a different country, that being a girl, you are always concerned about safety. And South Korea is really safe for everyone," adds Vidushi.

"When you are staying alone in a different country, it makes you independent," adds Vidushi.

CANTEENI MANDEER HOST MESMERISES LPU STUDENTS

LPU campus saw the presence of superstar host Ravneet Singh from the famous show Canteeni Mandeer, which is aired on MH1 Channel. He mesmerized the students with quirky jokes and funny interactions. Not just that, students also showed a lot of interest and showcased various talents.

Ravneet Singh, a Chandigarh-born actor, singer, and anchor, has been a part of the Punjabi Music Industry for the last decade and continues to be a part of it. He had his debut movie "Lakh Laahnta" in 2017, which was quite appreciated by the audience. His other movie JATT vs IELTS made us relate to the plot and had a clean comedy script. He also worked at Zee TV, Big FM Jalandhar, and Radio Mirchi.

"It's amazing to be here in such a vast university. I am amazed to see such a huge diversity of students. I loved interacting with them," says Mr Ravneet Singh. The actor gained massive popularity from his show Canteeni Mandeer. The show involves a visit to various colleges, wherein our host Ravneet Singh entertains the audience by hosting fun cultural events and activities for the students. Everyone gets a chance to participate and showcase their talent.

The actor interacted with the students of LPU in a manner that was strikingly similar and offered them the ability to be themselves and exhibit their diversity.

SESSIONS ON INSURANCE, BANKING TO VILLAGERS

On the eve of World Investor Week 2022, LPU students in association with SEBI (Securities Exchange Board of India) held learning sessions on insurance and savings to rural citizens in Shahpur, a village in Jalandhar. It was conducted under the supervision of Prof Anoop Mohanty. The villagers were very curious and asked several questions on various aspects of banking.

'Don't sell yourself to the wrong audience', Ishan Sharma

In a competitive age like this we are in, college or university students generally experience a lot of pressure, pressure of getting a good company, pressure of getting an extra certification, pressure of being a good friend and a good child to their parents.

Recently, LPU organized a session on Freelancing with Ishan Sharma as a guest speaker. Ishan Sharma, a YouTuber with more than 550k subscribers, an author & Co-Founder at MarkitUp.in, started his career as a freelancer and has now started educating students across the country through YouTube. Ishan believes, "Be the giver, not taker".

WHEN IN DOUBT? OVERCOME IT WITH SIMPLE STEPS...

It has happened to all of us multiple times, for sure. In most cases, self-doubt comes into the picture either when we are overthinking or when someone entrusts us with jobs that we lack confidence in or are uncertain if we are the right person for the task. First of all, let me clear that self-doubt is quite normal and, at times, can prove to be helpful by making us realize we aren't the almighty doer and we aren't always right.

Everything is good till a point, after which the excess can trigger unfavorable results. Persistent self-

Persistent self-doubt or fear of failure can induce numerous adverse effects on health and the mind doubt caused due to past experiences, mistakes, or fear of failure can induce numerous adverse effects on health and the mind. But how to get rid of it? Here are the steps with detailed explanations:

Accept self-doubt as a part of your life

Even the most experienced personals in your domain will have self-doubt when they pick up new projects. Self-doubt only arises when you are taking up a significant task, not the general one. It means you are on your path of upscaling yourself. Accept the little bit of self-doubt, shrug it off and start the job. You won't even notice when your self-doubt changes its gear to self-confidence.

Remember your achievements

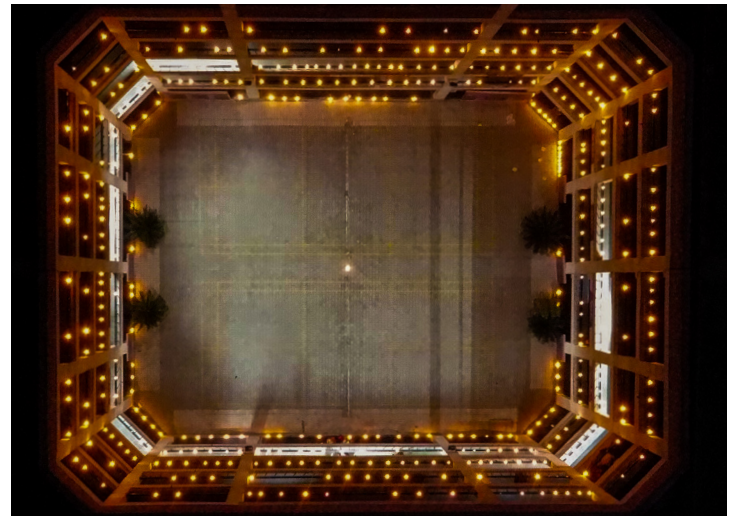

Whenever you are held back by persistent self-doubt, stop procrastination and bring yourself to the present. Forget everything, and stay in the moment. Relax and think about your achievements in the past. Think of times when you were happy.

Stop comparing yourself with others.

Every human being is unique, so is you. You have your own set of strengths, weaknesses, and personality. Whenever you find yourself comparing with others, stop immediately and save time.
